RAVE REVIEW

LIVING DREAM

6th/7th/8th March. Butlins, Skegness

The Living Dream lived up to expectations with a pukka production, but this was in no way thanks to Butlins who seemed hell bent on placing as many difficulties in the way of the event as they could. The big top, erected to hold 6,000 ravers was never used, the water park and shops were only open for very limited hours, but worst of all they pulled the plug early on both Saturday and Sunday morning. Kik have to be congratulated on the atmosphere they created in the main Show Boat hardcore room, and that the hastily revised schedule ran to time with all DJ's advertised playing. Friday night peaked with Colin Dale, Randall (the Sun Man) and Gachet. Saturday saw the best set of the whole weekend, courtesy of Kieth Suckling, and Steve Jackson (mixing, and some), Fabio and Seduction raising the rafters with ease.

The PA's were too numerous to list but Suburban Base were in authority, Liquid disappointing, considering their fine EP.

The stage show was relaxed, no fences, ravers and organisers dancing on stage, but some dancers gave it far too much of the 'big I am' degenerating all too often into soft porn. Gold sequins and a pout do not a good dancer make, but enjoy your fifteen minutes anyway. However, some excellent M.C.'ing from the man like Master P.

Renegade Sound Systems sub bass in full effect with the top end as clear as a bell. Laser Magic, Splattered Fantasy and Chameleon all played their part, with the production orchestrated by Stuart Johnson, making reality of Kik's ideas.

The two garage rooms turned out to be an embarrassment so one got converted into hardcore for Saturday night. High point of the weekend was catching Gordon Mac, Kiss supremo lappin' it up at the front of the stage in the hardcore Show Boat arena. He informed us that he preferred to stay just where he was. Who could blame him, other than sufferers of the daytime playlist?

No one had worms, hayfever or a headache, but if you're still buying fuel inside clubs or raves anywhere, wise up. Three security firms on offer, standards varied. Overall Kik delivered, whilst Butlins caused enough grief to put you off holiday camps for life.

SPIRAL TRIBE

Spiral Tribe have been around for a while organizing free raves up and down the country, often at the festivals. They don't promote their events at all, but have managed to pull up to 15,000 ravers at a time. The music's hardcore techno all the way, and only stops when every one has gone home, on average 72 hours after the start. Spiral Tribe live by the 'Terra-Technic', in synch with the pulse of the planet and the Universe. Their message is in the music, the music of the future, the music with a hard cutting edge. The costs are met by people giving their time and talents freely, anonymously. Just enough is made by passing the hat and selling refreshments. Any money over is turned into music, via The Spiral Tribe label.

Think of dancing in a field, under the stars, grass underfoot and no organisers, no security, no attitude, just thousands of like-minded people under the influence of the music, the strobes and the smoke.

The Roundhouse, The Old School House, Camberwell bus garage and Amsterdam are now in the past. The future holds Sound System City, the gathering of the Tribes for the Summer Solstice, and an event somewhere, somehow, every weekend. (Enquiries re the label etc. try 071 372 7377)

BROTHERS GRIMM "Field of Dreams" (Production House) More drum beats than you've had hot dinners, taking classical music samples to another dimension. Can you Handel it?

BLAME "Music Takes you" (Movin' Shadow)

Back by popular demand, this time in remix format by 2 Bad Mice. Hold it down!

MYSTICAL UNITS "Positively Evil" (Ruff Quality)

This one samples the 'Old Spice' theme and splashes on serious bass and breaks just for good measure. Potent stuff.

FLY & QED "The EP" (Urban Shakedown)

Thumping 4 tracker from the vinyl whiz kids who gave you "Some Justice" This one they call "Do It Now" - does it for me!

THE ODDBALL EP (Ruff Groove)

Uncle 22 and Cool Hand Flex bash out another finely cut 4 trackers to keep all those sample crazy tune creators on their toes. Watch out!

SUB-LOVE - Twisted Techno EP (Earth)

Coming out of Bristol, 2 of the tracks designed to seriously mash up your brain everytime, the others leave you to recover.

PIERRE POINT - The Fusion EP (Bassphere)

Euro hits the breakbeats with political overtones. Vote with your feet!

PARTY III

THE WAREHOUSE

Nathan Way, Plumstead, London SE28

This new Venue has to be one of London's best kept secrets. It's a genuine warehouse with a large outside chill-out, an alternative room as well as the main arena which boasts one of the best sound systems we have heard. We travelled from East London/ Essex and it took us less time than driving to Central London. Security by Top Guard is tight, but friendly with none of the attitude adopted by the neanderthals on the door at certain West End clubs. Three future dates to look out for are Fascination on April 18th, which is the venues own rave (081 311 1658), the Labrynth/2000AD mega rave on Saturday 25th April (071 247 7567), and Shrine on April 19th (081 530 2409) Check it out, it's worth it. Oh, and it's licenced to 8am!

The Bottom Line

Rush on Sundays at the Top Hat Club in Ealing is closed until further notice.

Ravescene was featured on MTV last Saturday. Just shows that they're more in touch with the scene than Dance Energy, The Word etc....

E.S.P. should be doing a huge outdoor rave in June in the Milton Keynes area. They say they should have a license for 15,000 ravers!

Compilation record of the month has to be the Rising High 1st birthday celebration double album 'Techno Classics'.

For information on when and where the next huge Labrynth rave will be (which is coming up soon) phone 071 247 7567.

The Orange Club will be at the Hippodrome again at Easter weekend. Very reasonable ticket price for members. 081 845 8255.

The Hitman and Her, presented by Peter Waterman and Michaela Strachan, is simply a showcase for PWL records, which is owned by Peter Waterman. Hasn't this man earned enough money? Formula techno just doesn't work, however much TV exposure it gets. A more promising project is in the offing, as Blip TV, via Channel X, are preparing a pilot for Channel 4, which will focus on the music in different parts of the country, with a heavy emphasis on techno.

The Living Dream/Kik Management have now split. However, both Kik and the splinter group, Dreamtime, will be putting on events this summer. Look out for the flyers.

A notice to everyone who had tickets for the X-Static rave in Kent last month - you will be entitled to reduced ticket prices to their next events and the organisers would like to apologise for the change of venue which was due to events beyond their control.

N-Joi are touring the country and should be appearing in Cornwall on April 10th.

FEEDBACK

Dear Ravenscene

You are my only hope !!! I was at Living Dream (which was totally brilliant, out of this world) and at about 6.30/7.00am Sunday morning I was dancing in the show boat when a bloke came up to me and "I'll look after you" as I was by myself, anyway we only danced for a short while, then suddenly I felt ill and had to dash off. I just wanted to explain, but I couldn't find him when I came back. I had long hair, sequinned waist coat, black leggings. If he reads this could he get in touch with me via Ravenscene. Cheeky, aren't !!!! Bysee, Angie.

Dear Editor

About rave in Poland. We still live in quite different conditions than you in the West. In our country still doesn't exist network of good clubs, private radio stations and normal distribution of western records, cassettes etc. People who want to buy them have to go to Berlin, Vienna or Paris for example to find them. For many during communist's regime, for young people the only source of informations old, traditional rock than new sounds. For that reason at present many people listen to Genesis or Pink Floyd only. But now when frontiers are open, people travel alot, meet friends from other countries, become acquainted with new music, new fashion, they start to open their eyes, ears and heads. For that reason a lot of kids stuff radio, TV and traditional music magazines. They do their own culture and rave is apart of that. Young people listen to house, techno, rave, rap, they organise crazy Hi-E-nergy parties in their houses, flats, exchange records, cassettes, information. Some of them try to remix tracks their own way or record own music. The great problem is lack of money, sound systems, private studios, stereos, records are terrible expensive. For that reason we still haven't true creative DJ's or true rave clubs. But we have a lot af E-nergy and positive vibrations and we hope with a little help from our western friends we will be able to travel to raves in other countries or organise in Poland true mega raves and great club nights soon. Now I do my best to poularise our fave music. Some months ago I wrote an article in a Polish music magazine about house scene since its beginnings till today. At present I will try to play some rave stuff on our local radio station. And I think that everything will go O.K. So, rave on!
